Increased Protection for Algonquin Park!

With the help of members like you, we have now been able to increase protection in Algonquin. Today the province announced an increase from 22% to 35% while bringing the total area off limits to logging to 371,238 hectares - an area equal to six times the size of Toronto.

Ultimately we want to see Algonquin protected like all other 631 parks in the province and have logging phased out over time, with a plan to diversify local economies that have depended in the past on logging.

The next step will be to amend the Park Management Plan to finalize this increase.
