Canadian Boreal Forest Agreement Celebrates First Anniversary

Holding fast on deferrals in 29 million hectares as we map caribou plans for millions more. More work to come.

Environmental groups and forest products companies that signed the Canadian Boreal Forest Agreement (CBFA) say significant strides have been made in the past year to turn the landmark agreement into concrete steps to make change on the ground that will protect the Boreal Forest and the people who rely on it for their economic prosperity and traditional way of life.
