

In The News

Deadline for public comments on Canada's first National Urban Park is September 17

What will Canada's first National Urban Park look like? You can help decide! The deadline for public input on Parks Canada's Rouge National Urban Park initiative is Monday, September 17th so now is the time to get involved and have your say.

Learn more about the Rouge National Urban Park and get involved!

- Read our backgrounder for the Rouge National Urban Park and the detailed CPAWS submission to Parks Canada.
- Attend a public information session, hosted by Park People, in downtown Toronto Thursday, September 13, 6:30 PM at the Urbanspace Gallery, 401 Richmond Street West. For more information, click here.
- Provide your input - fill out Parks Canada's on-line questionnaire here.

Click here to learn more about the Rouge National Urban Park.

Did You Know?

The Rouge is already one of the largest urban parks in North America, spanning over 40 square kilometres of public and private land, including agricultural, cultural, natural and recreational areas.